Listed among world's most influential captive insurance professionals.

Phillip C. Giles, CEBS, Managing Director of MSL Captive Solutions has been named to Captive Review Magazine's 2022 Power 50 rankings. Ranked number 27, this is Phil's sixth appearance and highest ranking on the listing.

The Captive Review Power 50 is an annual list of the 50 most influential captive insurance professionals from the last year, representing the best of the best of the worldwide captive industry. The Power 50 honors professionals that excel as champions of the captive insurance industry; dedicated professionals who are collegial, innovative, committed, visible, and have demonstrated excellence over the past year.

The publication cited the following within the listing:

Phil Giles has earned a reputation as being a great innovator in his field of medical stop-loss captives, which is itself an increasingly popular class captive owners are looking at. With more than [30] years' experience in the employee benefits space, he is responsible for all business development at MSL, structuring single parent and group captives for the growing organization. With medical inflation continually on the rise, it makes Giles' services more in-demand.

"This is an amazing honor, especially considering the level of professionalism that is represented by the other individuals on this list," said Giles. "I really view this as a commendation for the entire MSL Captive Solutions team. It is really an affirmation of our doing everything necessary to deliver on the expectations of our clients and uphold the highest standards set within our industry. I am very privileged to work alongside the top technical experts in the medical stop loss captive industry".
